Paul Redmond : A Parent's Guide to Graduate Jobs: How You Can Help Your Child Get a Job After Uni before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised A Parent's Guide to Graduate Jobs: How You Can Help Your Child Get a Job After Uni:

Is your son or daughter thinking about applying to university or already at university? Are you worried they won't find a good job or any job when they graduate? There are 80 applicants for every graduate job and 28% less graduate job vacancies, so your child is no longer guaranteed to find work on graduation. They'll need to work much harder to stand out from the other applicants - but what can you as a parent do to improve their prospects? Bringing you the best and latest advice from the jobs market, graduate careers guru Paul Redmond shows you how to help your child get a head-start in their future career. From understanding the importance of your child's degree course and university choices, to ensuring they don't fall in the unemployment trap on graduation, you'll learn how to be their personal careers adviser and kick-start their success! Your involvement can have a real - and positive - impact on your child's future prospects and it's never too soon to start planning. Discover how to: Increase their employability Boost their earning potential Equip them with essential work skills Use your own contacts to get them ahead Get them the right work experience If followed, the advice inside will directly increase your son or daughter's employability: whether it's ensuring they get the right skills and experience that employers are really looking for, or learning how to successfully navigate the changing world of recruitment. Not only can you help your child get the right qualifications, you can also make sure your child has the right experience and contacts to give them the edge in their hunt for a job, so they can take their first step on the career ladder. You have the power to give your child a major advantage in the world of work, so give them a head start in tomorrow's world of work, today.
