A. Natella : International Relations in the Post-Industrial Era: Rephrasing the Third World before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised International Relations in the Post-Industrial Era: Rephrasing the Third World:

The current emphasis on the greening of the world marks a beginning of a new concern for our relationship with our planet. This book states that we are entering into a new era - a transitional time in history in which the values of the industrial revolution are being replaced by a post-industrial consciousness.

"This book is a must read for those people who are interested in changes which are in effect in the world, particularly as these pertain to international relations....and in the re-interpretation of the Third World." Owen Mordaunt, International Dialogue: A Multidisciplinary Journal of World Affairs About the Author Arthur A. Natella, Jr. is a former Professor and Chair in the Department of Foreign Languages and Latin American Studies at American International College.
