From Palgrave Macmillan : Leadership and Global Justice (Jepson Studies in Leadership) before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Leadership and Global Justice (Jepson Studies in Leadership):

What does global justice look like, and how can leadership help get us there? The contributors explore justice in various spheres: citizenship, the marketplace, health, education, and the environment. And they provide creative and constructive moral approaches for evaluating and promoting global justice.

'This is a fine collection of contributors and essays on interrelated dimensions of global justice. In the Introduction, editors Hicks and Williamson pose all the right questions for justice leadership. Then, over eleven solid chapters, the authors effectively engage an interdisciplinary conversation that works. The editors finish the conversation with the key challenges facing leadership for global justice.' - Larry Rasmussen, Reinhold Niebuhr Professor Emeritus of Social Ethics, Union Theological Seminary

About the Author Douglas A. Hicks is professor of Leadership Studies and Religion in the Jepson School of Leadership Studies at the University of Richmond.
