What a refreshing read! In a marketplace almost saturated with experts telling us what, and what not to do, Steve's no-nonsense approach to demystifying the markets really cuts through the noise and helps me to understand just how the markets really work - and how to use this knowledge as a tool to profit. Economics can be dry as a subject, but Steve gets right to point and connects the dots as to why the fundamentals are key to giving you an edge in trading. His guidance on shorter term technical trading then provides a clear framework that beginner (and experienced) traders will find very valuable to adopt for intraday to position trading. His theory on risk management and position sizing should be essential reading for anyone planning to trade! In summary, an honest and open account of how Steve makes money consistently in the markets and clear rules for the reader to follow and benefit from. Thank you Steve for sharing everything you've learned in your trading career thus far - I look forward to the next book!

If it's trading, then Steve Ruffley has seen it and done it! Steve Ruffley has been involved in the finance industry for 15 years and is currently chief market strategist and head of education at InterTrader. In his Ruff Guide to Trading, he shows you the markets through his eyes. He reveals how he sees trading as a whole, how he assesses and exploits trading opportunities, and how he thinks about risk. He also describes three of his winning strategies. The focus of the Ruff Guide is intraday trading; everything covered relates to finding and making money from short-term trading opportunities that arise as part of everyday market moves. At the heart of Steve Ruffley's approach is a very simple 80-20 rule for understanding market movement. This is that market moves are 80% technical and 20% fundamental. He explains the fundamental and technical aspects you need to use to get the right balance in your market analysis and shows how to put these into practice with examples from real-life market action. Steve also explains why success at trading first requires you to understand yourself and your fellow traders, and provides guidance to help you gain this understanding. The Ruff Guide is the result of Steve Ruffley's thousands of hours of trading, charting and teaching experience. Pick it up to follow the simple and accessible guidance of someone who has seen and done it all before.

About the Author Steve Ruffley has been involved in the finance industry for 15 years. "If it's trading, then I've done it," is one of his favourite sayings. Steve's career began placing investments for high net worth clients at PricewaterhouseCoopers. He was quickly hooked on the financial markets. After moving to Gibraltar, he had the opportunity to join the Marex trading graduate scheme, which he completed. Later, Steve took the opportunity to risk manage some of the best traders in the business at Refco. This was a high-pressure environment where he had to simultaneously monitor all the major markets and up to 40 trading accounts at a time. At one point in the risk room there were 28 screens for two people. He then went on to run the live floor at Schneider, where there were around 144 traders. This was at the height of the prop trading boom. Over this period Steve had unparalleled access to the thoughts and strategies of some of the best traders around. He saw some common traits of success and also, more importantly, failure. Putting all this knowledge to use, Steve's next move was to start trading from home. Then, after a few years of lonely but successful trading, he decided that there was more to life. He decided to turn his hand to education and teamed up with InterTrader (intertrader.com) to become their chief market strategist and head of education. "Those who can, do; those who can't teach," the saying goes. Steve decided to prove he could do both, in real time with real money. Since 2010, Steve has presented nearly 1000 webinars on all aspects of trading and he has traded at over 150 live events, demonstrating how to make money in real market situations. To prove his teaching worked and in preparation for The Ruff Guide To Trading, he publicly traded a pound;5k trading account to pound;11k in 90 days. Steve has also written software for MetaStock (TraderMaker PRO), MT4 and recently the new trading platform of Tradable (iView Charts). His technical analysis has been quoted in the FT, Bloomberg, Reuters, Wall Street Journal, New York Times and many more.
