From Wiley-Blackwell : The World Economy: Global Trade Policy 2011 (World Economy Special Issues) before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The World Economy: Global Trade Policy 2011 (World Economy Special Issues):

This is the eighteenth volume in an annual series in which leading economists provide a concise and accessible evaluation of major developments in trade and trade policy. Examines key issues pertinent to the multinational trading system, as well as regional trade arrangements and policy developments at the national level The 2011 issue analyses global trade policy in areas such as Malaysia, West Africa and China Includes a review of antidumping, safeguards and countervailing duties from 1990ndash;2009 Includes chapters exploring WTO issues, and a special section on agricultural trading issues Provides up-to-date assessments of the World Trade Organization's current Trade Policy Reviews A vital resource for researchers, analysts and policy-advisors interested in trade policy and other open economy issues

From the Back CoverThe World Economy: Global Trade Policy 2011 is the eighteenth in an annual series in which leading economists provide a concise and accessible evaluation of major developments in trade and trade policy. Each annual volume examines key issues pertinent to the multilateral trading system, as well as regional trade arrangements and policy developments at the national level. Each volume also provides assessments of the World Trade Organization's (WTO) recent Trade Policy s. The 2011 issue analyses global trade policy in areas such as Malaysia, West Africa and China, and includes a review of antidumping, safeguards and countervailing duties from 1990 to 2009. The book also includes chapters exploring WTO issues, and a special section on agricultural trading issues. This book is a vital resource for researchers, analysts and policy advisors interested in trade policy and other open economy issues.About the AuthorDavid Greenaway is Vice-Chancellor of the University of Nottingham, where he is also Professor of Economics and Research Fellow in the Leverhulme Centre for Research on Globalisation and Economic Policy.
