Dan Fournier : The Young Investor : The North American Guide to Investing Online before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Young Investor : The North American Guide to Investing Online:

Written in plain English, with a strong focus on investing online, a contest to win $2,000, and 10% of book proceeds donated to charity - a winning combination.

About the Author Dan Fournier, a dual citizen of Canada and the United States, has been working in the education sector for over twenty years - seven of them as a Business Instructor at Champlain College in Sherbrooke, Quebec. He holds a college degree in Computer Information Systems and a Bachelor of Business Administration degree from Bishop's University. On a more personal level, Dan enjoys learning about different cultures, snorkeling in the crystal blue waters of the Caribbean, and traveling around the world, having visited over twenty countries. He has also been known to be a formidable opponent in the odd Texas Hold'em tournament. As an eternal student, Dan speaks three languages and is currently learning Mandarin as he plans to teach in China for a while.
